A cycle of talks with Masters of architecture. The last decade of Polish architecture. Creators. Ideas.

Breakthroughs

Celebrating the 10th jubilee of 4DD, we invite you to a special cycle of talks with masters of Polish architecture. With it, we will symbolically summarize the decade that has seen a remarkable transition of Polish architecture – from bold visions and renovations of historic buildings to sustainable investments and social architecture. The talks will revolve around responsibility, beauty, technology, and creation – in other words, everything that elevated Polish architecture to its current status in Europe.

Discussion - the following persons have been invited to participate (in alphabetical order):

PROPERTY FORUM: IDEA FOR A CITY

Silesia: The Idea for a Metropolis

The Upper Silesian-Zagłębie Metropolis is undergoing one of the most interesting economic transformations in Poland. A region that for decades built its strength on heavy industry is now consistently forging a new identity based on innovation, technology, green energy, and urban cooperation. How can we develop the GZM as a cohesive metropolitan entity? What solutions are the region's cities implementing to improve quality of life? How do they define their specializations, attract investment and talent, and transform post-industrial areas into spaces for modern business and housing? The scale of collaboration is crucial here: projects that transcend administrative boundaries and build competitive advantages for the entire metropolis. Technologies, infrastructure, green transformation, and culture are strengthening Silesia's position as a metropolis of the new economy.

Discussion - the following persons have been invited to participate (in alphabetical order):

- Maciej Biskupski, Vice-Chairman of the Board, Upper Silesian-Zagłębie Metropolis
- Maciej Franta, Founder, Franta Group, Founder, Chairman of the Board of Founders, ŁADNIE Foundation

PROPERTY FORUM: IDEA FOR A CITY

The ten commandments: City × Developer

The cities of today are presented with a number of challenges and opportunities – from the pressure in terms of available land, through transport and mobility, to standard of living and the revitalization of urban space. The speakers invited to the debate will address 10 critical issues that impact the future of Polish cities. They will take turns in answering 10 short questions. Each of them will have time to address the previous speaker and say a few words of summary:

- Land: How to unlock land for investment?
- Procedures: Permissions, agreements, decisions – is it possible to build faster?
- Financing: Can cities and investors cooperate in obtaining capital and EU funding?
- Transport and infrastructure: Who should pay for roads, communication, and connections – and on what terms?
- Revitalization: How to jointly transform degraded premises into modern districts?
- Quality of life: How to pursue projects without disturbing the neighbours?
- Sustainable development and climate: ESG, retention, energy – do developers and local government have the same goal?
- Housing: Cities want more affordable houses, while developers want more profitable projects. Is there a middle ground between social mission and market reality?
- Urban planning: How to establish spatial order without hampering growth? New legislation and investment reality.
- Identity and aesthetics: Should the city dictate the architecture and standard of public space?

Discussion - the following persons have been invited to participate (in alphabetical order):

- Mateusz Bromboszcz, Vice-President of the Management Board, Atal S.A.
- Bartłomiej Gowin, co-founder, architect, Gowin&Siuta Architectural Studio

The Future? Between education, competitions, and professional practice.

A panel accompanying the exhibition "Przyszłość? / Future?" (organized by the Faculty of Architecture of the Silesian University of Technology) will be devoted to the relationship between architectural education, competitions, and professional practice. The discussion will provide an opportunity to consider whether these are a testing ground for ideas, attitudes, and tools, and whether and how they can transcend the framework of academic exercise and become a catalyst for responsible design practices, research, and critical thinking in the face of contemporary environmental and social challenges. We will discuss the ambitions and realities of contemporary design, as well as the role of education, research, and competitions. This is a conversation about architecture as a process—constantly negotiated between idea, responsibility, and practice.

Discussion - the following persons have been invited to participate (in alphabetical order):

- Paweł Białas, Architect, Silesian University of Technology
